about the CareType™ System

The CareType™ System (CTS) from Reveal Sciences is the revolutionary rapid skin diagnostic system that provides science-based product and treatment recommendations for the Professional Beauty industry. The CareType System offers skincare professionals and their clients with quantitative, scientific results they can trust.

The CareType System goes beyond traditional facial imaging devices and offers the next generation of interactive skin analysis. The customized CareType system utilizes simple non-invasive disposable skin testers. Tests for the CTS are analyzed in less than 10 seconds using a small, user-friendly instrument that identifies specific biological skin wellness factors providing a never-before-seen level of real-time skin analysis.

By integrating a science-based, user-friendly diagnostic system to assist in product and treatment selection, Spa and Salon owners can meet and exceed client needs for guidance in customizing an effective skin wellness program. When clients select the right product for their unique skin type, they are more likely to get the results they want and continue to use and promote your product lines and services.

how it works

The CareType™ System is designed to be a user-friendly companion diagnostic tool for anyone in the Beauty and Cosmetics arena. The primary role of the CTS is to seamlessly analyze skin surface attributes collected using disposable skin testers and report custom results to the user.

At the core of the system is a low maintenance, automated diagnostic system that uses unique combinations and frequencies of visible and non-visible light to excite the chemicals and compounds present on the disposable skin sampling device. Additionally, the system provides microscopic analysis of skin texture and consistency, hydration levels, and morphological signs of ageing and damage. All of this automated analytical power is packaged into an instrument that can fit into the palm of your hand.
